On July 8 1741 Jonathan Edwards preached his most famous sermon. Indeed it may be the most famous sermon in US history and has a profound impact on this country to this day. It has made Christianity a religion of wrath rather than a gospel of love.

A FEW BRIEF ANNOUNCEMENTS

Aylin, 16-year-old German, would love to experience America with a family that has small children! She loves to be around people, especially kids. She really enjoys playing with kids and after her work experience in a Kindergarten classroom she is convinced that she wants to become an elementary school teacher. Family is the most important thing to Aylin. In her free-time she dances (ballet, latin and hiphop), plays the piano, swims and listens to music. She also really enjoys baking and cooking.

Do you have younger children that would like to have a big sister this fall? Consider hosting Aylin! She is fluent in English, comes with health insurance and spending money. I am looking for a family that is willing to open their home and provide 3 meals a day, a bedroom (they can share with your own kids if similar age) and reasonable transportation so she can get involved in school and the community.

If interested call my mobile: 765-427-5531 or email me at cherylafowler@gmail.com. If you can't but know someone who might be interested, please share this message!

NURSERY

Christina Wright, Nursery@uuctc.org

Life can be overwhelming at times. I hear more and more of my loved ones mentioning anxious feelings and frustrations over daily challenges that ought to be easily managed. I feel these symptoms occasionally and see it in my children from time to time, as well. Positive affirmations may seem silly at first but a little encouragement from within can help a lot.

I accept myself for who I am.
I am not alone in my struggles.
I am not afraid of what can go wrong, I am excited about what can go right.
I am in control.
This is only temporary. This too shall pass.
I am safe. I am loved.
I am capable of acknowledging thoughts I do not need and letting them go.
Breathe.
